Doubleheaders Set Dec. 28-29

Top college basketball has again been slated for Panhandle cage fans this year in the fifth annual Holiday Doubleheaders Dec. 28-29 in the West Texas State College fieldhouse.

West Texas State's Buffaloes will host the Skyline Conference's New Mexico Lobos, who have appeared twice before on the Christmas slate, the North Texas State Eagles, a Gulf Coast contender, and fellow Border Conference power, Texas Western's Miners.

Action each night will get underway at 7 p. m., with the second game scheduled to start around 9 p. m. First night will pit New Mexico vs Texas Western, in the first game, with West Texas meeting North Texas in the nightcap. Second night games will find Texas Western and North Texas tangling in the first round, and West Texas and New Mexico completing play.

Tickets for the doubleheaders may be ordered at the WT Athletic Office, and will be placed on sale in several Panhandle cities later this month. Price is $1.50 for each night.

New Mexico's lobos, under Coach Bill Stockton, have been building the last two years, and should prove a polished club this year. In their first game of the season, the Lobos defeated New Mexico A&M, a perennial cage power in the Border Conference.

Texas Western and North Texas each boast a number of star players from the Panhandle area, who have boosted scoring punch in early games this season. Coach Gus Miller's Buffaloes, now on a tour of Kentucky and Tennessee, always are contenders for the Border title.

Recreation Cards Now Being Sold

Membership cards for the Canyon Community Recreation Center are now on sale by the Canyon High School Student Council. The cards must be presented at the door each time an activity is held. Cards are available at the door for the first activity.

Junior high students will have their first recreation activity on Dec. 29. The Canyon Junior Chamber of Commerce members will furnish transportation for the junior high students who will meet at the Canyon Drug or Johnnie's Humble Station. Anyone desiring further information may contact Wayne Wirt or Ralph Green.

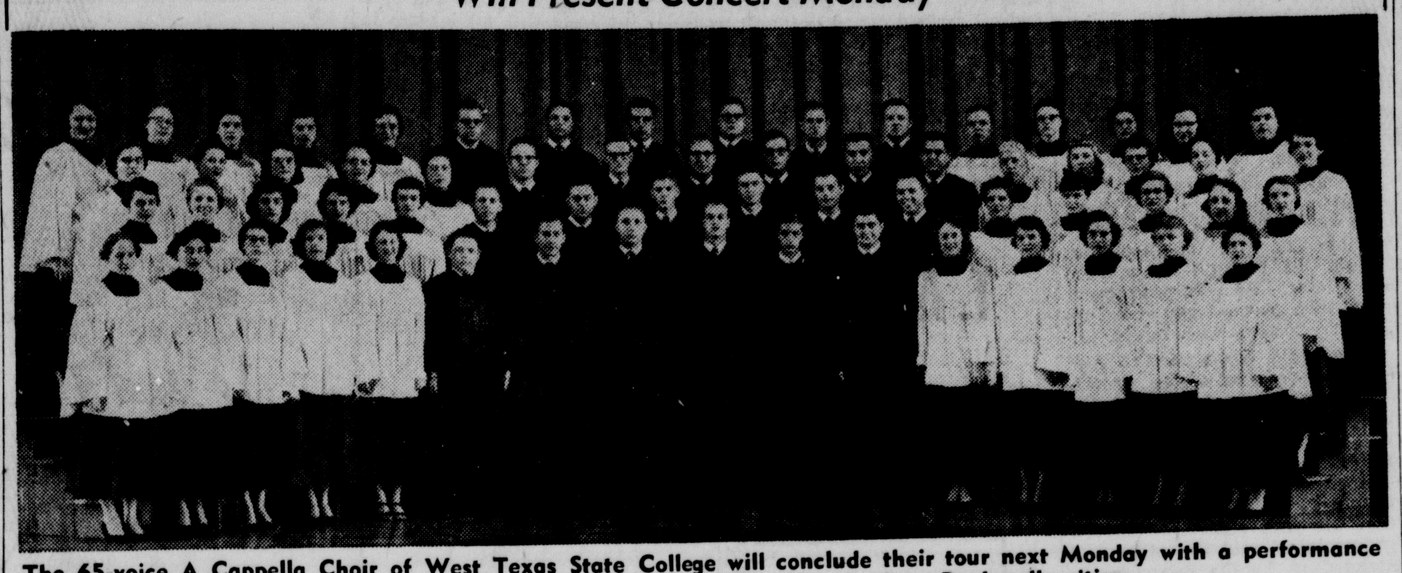
Will Present Concert Monday



The 65-voice A Cappella Choir of West Texas State College will conclude their tour next Monday with a performance at 8 p. m. in the Administration Building Auditorium. They will appear in three Panhandle cities.

Choir Gives Christmas Program

A Christmas concert, featuring traditional carols and church hymns, along with specialties, will be presented Monday, Dec. 17, at 8 p. m. in the Administration Building auditorium by the West Texas State College A Cappella Choir.

Directed by Dr. Houston Bright, the 65-voice choral group will climax a three-day tour all day Monday with the local concert. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

The big choral club will also appear Monday in high school Springlake. The singers will open their concert season Sunday at 6 p. m. in the St. Paul's Methodist Church in Amarillo.

Program specialties will feature three small ensembles, the WT Harmonettes, a girls' trio, the Hi-Fi Men's Quartet, and a Woodwind Trio.

In the choir's repertoire are a group of selections and arrangements by its conductor, Dr. Bright, who has had dozens of choruses, band and orchestra works published in the last few years. Among these are his "Te Deum Laudamus," composed last spring, "Solomon Grundy," a catchy folk tune, and his arrangements of "The First Noel" and "Streets of Laredo."

Other selections include "The Gift of Christmas Morn" by Miller, "Mary, Mary, Where is Your Baby?" by Hairston, the traditional "Silent Night," and a group of early carols and spirituals.

The group annually makes a short Christmas tour and a more extensive tour of Panhandle schools in the spring.

Patrolwoman Likes Her Work--- Protecting Our Precious Property

Five days a week, three times a day, a slim woman dressed in a smart, trim, gray uniform is on the job protecting Canyon's young pride and joys. Mrs. L. D. Caldwell, patrolwoman, has an important job protecting the lives of the youngsters who cross the highway in front of the elementary school.

"I love it," she says enthusiastically. And immediately she gives the reason, "I love children." She adds that she really gets to know children as they come to her car to be escorted across the highway. Patrolwoman Caldwell says they tell her their troubles, pains and good times.

Or maybe it's just chatter like: "Hello, there, how are you today?" asks Mrs. Caldwell. "Fine," a crew-cut with a big grin answers. Or, "Oh, so you're getting to walk home today?" she questions. "Yeah," a robust youngster answers with a grin that spreads across a freckled face displaying a large space where two front teeth used to be.

"I know all the kids who cross this highway," she said. "You get to know them even by their walk," she added as she glanced at a young girl walking across the school yard.

Patrolwoman Caldwell fills a needed position as a few minutes watching some speedsters in a hurry to get nowhere will verify. Wednesday afternoon, while escorting several youngsters across the highway, one man definitely in a hurry didn't seem anxious to stop. Mrs. Caldwell stood her ground, he screeched to a stop and then sat with protruding jaw practically crawling over the steering wheel with impatience. The children walked safely across the highway.

Such a driver is enough to scare an adult, much less a child. First graders are especially excited when crossing the highway. They are warned of danger a lot by their parents, Mrs. Caldwell said.

As a patrolwoman, she not only protects the children, but answers some mother's question, "Have you seen Cynthia?" Or she reminds youngsters leaving school of forgotten coats and gloves. Or she explains some problem to a boy or girl.

One boy displayed a fear of policemen. She told him, "Why, they're not going to hurt you." She told him that Chief of Police Ralph Pray has a boy in the first grade, a younger boy at home, and that other policemen have children

Eagles Win Three Basketball Games; Enter Hereford Tournament Thursday

After only four days of practice the Canyon Eagles basketball team opened the season in style by winning their first two games and taking the championship trophy in the Happy Tournament last Saturday night. The Eagles placed three men on the All-Tournament team. They were Leonard Miller, forward; Charles Neblett, guard, and George Snapp, guard.

Canyon drew a bye in the first round of the tournament and met the Tulia "B" team in the second round. The Eagles took this game 72-49 with George Snapp canning 33 points for high point honors. He was followed by Neblett with 22 markers. High scorer for the losers was Jennings with 13 points.

The Eagles took on the Dimmitt Bobcats in the championship game Saturday night and emerged with a 46-39 victory to take the championship. Snapp and Neblett each scored 19 points but were edged for high point honors by Lowe of Dimmitt with 21 points.

The Eagles continued their winning ways Tuesday night by out-pointing Panhandle 49-34. Hamilton of Panhandle and Neblett of Canyon shared high point

Jail Completion Ordered Monday

Randall County commissioners Monday authorized the Southern Steel Co. of San Antonio to proceed with completion of additional cell blocks in the new county jail on the courthouse square.

The commissioners took action after County Auditor E. T. Cummings assured them funds will be available to finance the project.

Cummings also predicted a total shortage of $20,000 may put all but one county fund in the red during the fiscal year of 1957. The auditor said all shortages can be made up by 1958 and the jail building program can be completed without causing undue financial strain.

Harold Dreek of Southern Steel presented plans to provide 14 additional bunks in the jail. He said the addition would cost approximately $7,985.

L. A. Kerr, Amarillo architect, said the cost of plumbing, electrical installations, painting and plastering would bring the total cost of the project to approximately $9,000.

TO PICK UP PAPERS

Thursday afternoon Troop 97 will collect old newspapers after school. They request the papers be put on the porches where they may be seen from the street.

Chamber of Commerce Banquet Slated for Cafeteria Thursday Night

Tickets for the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet will be available at the door of the West Texas State cafeteria Thursday night for the convenience of those who have not purchased tickets ahead of time.

The banquet will begin at 8 p. m. and the Rev. J. Hoytt Boles will be the guest speaker. New officers of the chamber and members of the board of directors will be introduced during the banquet.

The Rev. Boles has had extensive experience on the lecture platform, speaking before church groups, schools, colleges, chambers of commerce, service clubs and conventions all over the nation.

He has been pastor of two churches, the Tulia Presbyterian Church and Hemphill Presbyterian Church, Fort Worth; and is presently serving as the synod executive of the Presbyterian Church Synod of Texas.

A native of Amarillo, the Rev. Boles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Boles. He was graduated from Amarillo High School, Trinity University and McCormick Theological Seminary of Chicago. He was pastor of the Tulia church from 1932 to 1939.

The Rev. Boles entered executive work in the Presbyterian Church in 1944 and supervises the work of the church in Texas and Louisiana.

Tickets are also available at the chamber of commerce office or from Roland Black, chamber manager.

Ogle Family Helped By Many Volunteers

In last week's paper a report was given on those helping the Ogle family. Some names were left out by mistake. Jim Boyce, who works at Pioneer Gas Company, gave up his vacation to help milk when the accident occurred. Meade Humphreys and Gene Powers, high school students, helped with the milking and were the first to give blood. Other students giving blood were Don Ford, George Kuehler and Eddie Leake. Airmen at the Amarillo Air Force Base are now supplying blood.

Joe Crowley and Joe Grady Crowley helped with the hay hauling and around the dairy. Many people from the different churches in Canyon are helping with the care of Jesse Ogle at the hospital.

Buffaloes Play Centenary Here

All key performers who sparked Centenary College to a 20-7 record last season will be on hand when the Shreveport club invades Buffalo fieldhouse for a joust with West Texas Saturday night.

The Gentlemen have picked up where they left off last year also. In their first two outings this year, they defeated Texas A&M, 67-59, and Hardin-Simmons by a bigger margin.

The Buffaloes edged Centenary on a road trip last year, 92-85, in a wild-shooting exhibition.

Heading Centenary's list of returning hot-shots is center Lester Ralph, a 6-8 pivotman who fired in 30 points against West Texas last season. Also back are Ron Viskozki, a three-year letterman and one of the finest guards in the South, and Dean Busboom, 6-3 forward.

The brightest new star in the Gent lineup is Milt Williams, who hails from the Alabama Indian Reservation and Tyler Junior College. He averaged 30 points per game for Tyler last season and made third team junior college All-American.

West Texas has returned to the practice court after an exhausting road trip through Kentucky and Tennessee. The Buffs lost four contests, one each to Tennessee Tech and Middle Tennessee, and two to Murray State and now have a record of 1-4. The victory, a 61-50 win over McNeese State, ended a 20-game winning streak for the defending NAIA national champions.

After five games, Charlie Beaston, 6-5 transfer from Oklahoma City University, tops Buffalo scorers with 73 points. Last year's leading point-maker, All-Conference guard Rookie Rogers, injured an ankle in the third game against Tennessee Tech and may not be ready for the Centenary game.

West Texas' talented freshman team will meet Wayland College freshmen in a 6 p. m. preliminary Saturday.

Junior Class Play Staged Two Nights

The junior class of Canyon High School will present "Just Ducky" Thursday and Friday nights, Dec. 13-14, in the high school auditorium. The production will start at 8 p. m. Mrs. Dan F. Sanders and G. D. Inman are directing the play, assisted by Mrs. T. L. Devin.

Relief Goal Hits Half Way Mark

The Randall County chapter of American Red Cross has reached the half way mark in its goal of $212 for Hungarian relief. Total collected this week is $105.

County residents who wish to contribute to the relief fund are asked to mail their contributions to the Red Cross, Box 8, Canyon. The county chapter is not conducting an intensive door to door campaign but voluntary contributions are needed to reach the goal.

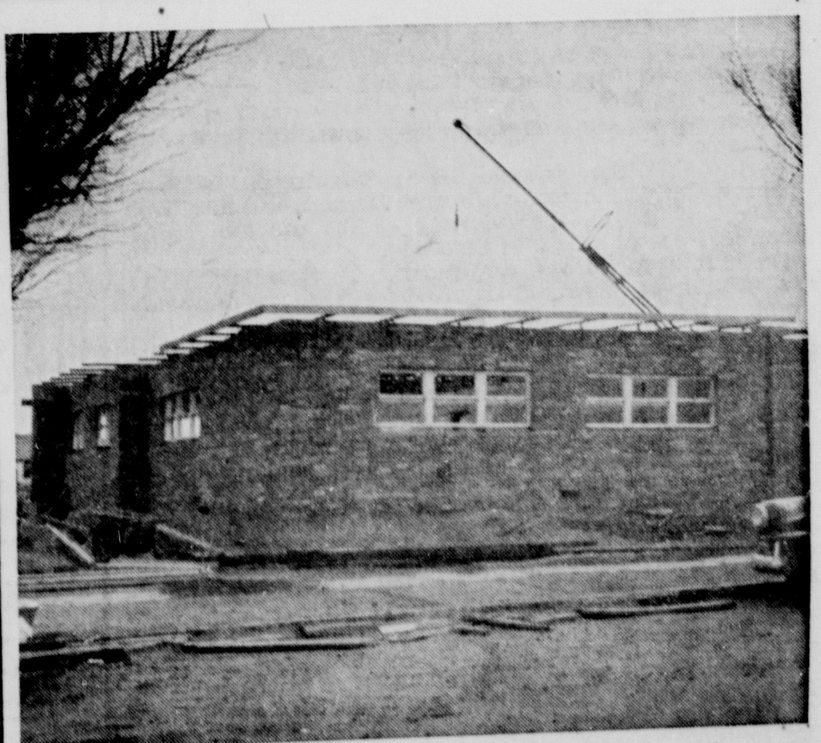
Junior Woman's Club To Sponsor Bazaar

The Junior Woman's Book Club will sponsor a bazaar at the Truitt-Townsend building Saturday, Dec. 15. The sale will start at 8:30 in the morning and continue through the day.

Proceeds will go toward a community project.

Million Dollar Construction Totals Keep Canyon Growing in All Directions

With the Canyon building permit total nearing the $1½ million mark at the end of November, home, business and college construction is keeping construction workers busy. The rate of building has been fast enough that the casual observer can find homes finished with owners moved in, where only a vacant lot existed a few weeks ago. The average monthly construction bill this year has been some $140,000, although almost $1 million of the total came from two dormitories at West Texas State. These pictures are representative of the building going on in Canyon. Throughout the paper are pictures of other construction now underway. H. L. Williams is constructing two houses, left. The foundation in the background is for a residence at 1809 First Avenue and the one in the foreground is for a duplex at 1811 First Avenue.



The building permits were for $5,500 each. At 504 Eighth Avenue, center, G. E. Gibson moved in a residence and the building permit was for $3,500. The boys dormitory at West Texas State, right, has a building permit value of $474,000, and one for girls next to Randall Hall has a permit value of $500,000.

Back in the middle of November a bunch of men got together down in Lubbock to talk over ways to make U. S. Highway 87 a better road, especially that part of the highway from San Antonio to Raton.

Originally the meeting was called at a suggestion of the Highway Committee of the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce because Highway 87 between San Antonio and Raton is not included in the Interstate System, and because the committee felt it could be added to the system if all the towns along the route would work toward that goal.

The Interstate System is the system of highways that will be improved by the federal government under the provisions of the highway bill passed by the last Congress. Originally, Congress allocated money for 40,000 miles—and that has all been designated. Another 1,000 miles has been allocated, but has not yet been designated as to which highway will be improved.

Up in this part of the country, U. S. Highway 66 across the Panhandle is a part of the Interstate System. Downstate, portions of several of the highway in the vicinity of Houston and Dallas are in the system, and Highway 87 from Laredo to San Antonio is a part.

(Personally, I have never been able to understand how a part of a highway, like from Laredo to San Antonio, could be in an interstate system, when that part of the highway does not even come close to a state line—but that's neither here nor there.)

At any rate, the executive vice president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, A. B. Davis, made a statement that the purpose of the meeting was to 1) work for the inclusion of Highway 87 from San Antonio to Raton on the Interstate System, and/or 2) work to secure the construction of the route as a four-lane divided highway).

Davis counseled that the group should work toward getting the highway included in the system so that when additional mileage is authorized by Congress, the highway would not be left out. He said that many highway officials over the nation fear that adding additional mileage to the system could finally break the system down because there would be more miles than money.

Davis said, however, that many highway officials feel that highways such as 87 between San Antonio and Raton would be better off not being in the Interstate System. The reasoning behind that is the federal government has the say-so on system highways, and the local people have nothing to say.

Davis said that the policy of the Texas Highway Department is to be the use of funds released on routes that go into the Interstate System for construction on other important highways. He said that might make construction come quicker.

Reading a letter from Marshall Formby, state highway commissioner, Davis said Highway 87 was placed on the recommended list for inclusion in the Interstate System if any increase in mileage is approved by Congress.

All this was discussed round and round, and finally Russell Willis of San Angelo moved that the group work toward getting the highway constructed as a four-lane divided highway through the regular funds, rather than trying to get on the Interstate System.

In a series of reports from various counties, it was shown that Moore County has right of way for four lanes from Dumas to the Potter County line, construction is now underway from Lamesa to the Lynn County line, Swisher has a four-lane highway through the county, Randall County's Highway 87 widening is to start soon.

Almost everywhere else, the highway is two lanes wide, and as I remember it, the highway is only 1½ lanes wide in some parts of New Mexico.

The group appointed a committee, and went off to lunch on the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. At lunch the committee reported back and their recommendations were adopted.

It was recommended that the organization be made permanent. It was recommended that it be named "Raton to San Antonio U. S. Highway 87 Improvement Association." It was recommended that the association be divided into three districts—New Mexico, Texline to Lamesa, and Big Spring to San Antonio. It was recommended that those present at the meeting form county organizations when they got home.

Then they elected officers of the Raton to San Antonio U. S. Highway 87 Improvement Association.

The highway in question ought to be a pretty romantic highway, at least it runs through enough places that plenty of romance could be found—both figurative and literal romance.

Start down at the south end of U. S. Highway 87, at Laredo. Across the river it becomes No. 85 of the Mexican system and busts through to Monterrey, over the mountains and into Mexico City. From there you can leave out on No. 190 and end up at the Guatemala border.

Over in Guatemala, the map shows a highway that is labeled "Inter-American Highway," or "Pan American Highway." It doesn't quite meet Mexican 190. In fact, it sort of runs to the border and stops without meeting up with any other highway.

Going north from Laredo though is quite a different story. Santa Ana probably used a similar route when he marched up to San Antonio to slap down the Texans at the Alamo.

North out of San Antonio there's San Angelo, Lamesa, Lubbock, Canyon, Amarillo, Dumas, Dalhart and into New Mexico. At Raton, the highway climbs the mountains again and passes over into Colorado.

On it rolls to Denver, and north. To Sheridan, Wyo., and to Billings, Mont. It slices across Montana and ends up at Great Falls. That's the top of 87.

But, running out of Great Falls there's a highway numbered 89 that goes right to Caraway, Alberta, Canada.

The Canadians call the highway No. 2, and they take care of it for a great number of miles. From Caraway it goes straight up to Calgary and on to Edmonton, then turns and moves over into British Columbia and goes north again to Yukon.

Later on it goes over into Alaska and finally comes to an end at Fairbanks. Back during the war that highway was called the Al-Can highway, but the maps show it now as Alaska Highway.

In case you are not familiar with it, that's the highway that the 1957 Chevrolet trucks travel on television lots of nights.

There's lots of the whole stretch of the highway called 87 in the United States that apparently is not paved. Especially is pavement missing on the north section past Edmonton. There's another little bit at the tip end of Mexico that seems to be short of pavement.

The Raton to San Antonio U. S. Highway 87 Improvement Association wants to improve the part of the highway that runs through our county. I say more power to them. I hope they get the whole route improved. After looking at the map, I'm ready to take the trip.—BC

By BOYCE HOUSE

Wild Bill Hickok is the most famous name on the roll of the West's peace officers. But, as in the case of Billy the Kid, Hickok's deeds and character have been glamorized.

He gained his first fame as the result of a fight in which (it was said) he killed seven men, single-handed. The record indicates this was a gross exaggeration—two or possibly three would be nearer the truth, and one of these was a boy.

As marshal in Dodge City, Kan., he had an opportunity for a showdown with a pistoleer of top standing, Ben Thompson of Texas, but did not see fit to force matters to a climax. He preferred easier game, such as cowboys whose reflexes were awry with liquor.

Hickok did come face to face with another artist of the six-gun. The marshal did not recognize the slim youth as the famed gun-fighter, John Wesley Hardin, when they met on the street.

"We have a rule against wearing guns in town," the marshal said. "Give me your gun."

"Certainly," said the other and extended it, handle forward. As Hickok reached for it, the Texan spun the pistol and the marshal found himself facing the muzzle. The stranger introduced himself and Hickok laughed, told him to put up the pistol and they had a drink together.

What then? Did the heroic Wild Bill shoot it out with Wes Hardin?

Not exactly. Hardin awoke to find an assassin standing over him with a knife, killed the intruder and fled over the roof-tops while he could hear Hickok cursing and rallying his men to attack him. But Hardin got away.

Wild Bill was a cautious man. He never turned a corner sharply but walked wide lest he bump into an enemy. He always sat facing the door—except once and that was the time he was shot to death. He was playing poker when he was struck by a bullet from behind and his cards dropped to the floor: two pair, aces and eights—"dead man's hand" it's been called ever since.

Hickok liked gambling, liquor and dance hall girls. He killed a friend who heard shooting and came running up—because Wild Bill's method was to shoot first, then ask questions.

Hardly a model character!

It is related to the four themes of the Boy Scouts of America, "For God and My Country." One of the objects in this patriotic and spiritual theme is that all leaders in the scout program be basically trained to provide a richer program for the boys of our community.

Those attendin the meeting were Mrs. Marion Williams, Mrs. Aubry Crossland, Mrs. Glenn Gardner and Mrs. Earnest Huckaba, den mother of Pack 31, M. L. Sherrod and Lloyd McAtee, committeemen of Pack 31, and Jack Walters, Cubmaster of Pack 97.

The next meeting will be held in January when "Achievement Plan" will be discussed. This is of great importance to all parents of Cub Scouts and they are not only invited, but are urged to attend this meeting.

Sometimes it seems a wonder that children ever learn to talk intelligibly.

Why, just listen to adults talk to babies. "Bess ets 'ittle 'art. Ets so seet. Arnt su, sug ah? Ess sir, et is. Goo, goo. Go us seep now."

My word, it is a wonder. There's no cure it seems because as soon as we see a cute baby our voices automatically jump an octave into baby talk.

Let us be thankful that the little ones learn to talk as soon as they do. If your small one is taking a little longer than what the baby book says is fine and proper, don't worry. The youngster is probably just confused between that foreign tongue we speak to toddlers and what we speak to each other.

Come to think of it, that "English" we speak to each other sometimes gets a little foreign. Listen: "Hullo, Jim. Whutcha duin? Workin'? That's t'bad. Say, did ya see tevishun las' night? Wudn't that show insting (bet you don't figger that one out.) Wull, don't work t'hard? See ya round. Bye."

Buffs Workout For Bowl Game

West Texas State's football team has returned to the practice field in preparation for its Tangerine Bowl date with Mississippi Southern at Orlando, Fla., New Year's night.

Off a week after finishing the regular schedule by shellacking Midwestern, 41-14, the Buffs will put the emphasis on conditioning for several days.

Workouts will continue until Christmas and then after a short holiday break, drills will be resumed again. The squad will board a 67-passenger chartered plane on Dec. 29 and arrive in Orlando in time for three practice sessions.

Coach Frank Kimbrough received heartening news when ace fullback Charlie Sanders returned to drills, apparently recuperating satisfactorily from rib injuries suffered in early November.

Although the 190-pound junior played in only five games before getting injured, he easily won the Border Conference scoring championship with 72 points on 12 touchdowns. His absence was sorely missed in the late stages when the Buffs lost squeakers to Arizona, 20-13, and Texas Western, 16-13, to finish with a 7-2 record.

Mississippi Southern tied Alabama, 13-13, in its last outing to wind up with a 7-1-1 mark. The Southerners only defeat was a 20-19 decision to Florida State.

The Tangerine Bowl clash will be the first football meeting of the two schools.

Three Day Run of Play Ends Tonight

West Texas State's dramatics students are experimenting with fantasy and musical comedy here, completing a three-night performance of an original play, "Much Ado About Christmas," in the Branding Iron Theatre tonight.

The song and dance production, written by members of Buffalo Masquers, campus drama club, is directed by Eddie Thomas of Amarillo and Verdi Knox of Canyon. Admission is 50 cents, with tickets to be sold at the door only. Curtain time will be 8:15 p. m. in the Branding Iron Theatre.

Story of "Much Ado About Christmas" deals with a group of airline crash victims who seek refuge in a hermit's cabin in the Arizona mountains. Time is Christmas eve, and the "Stagecoach" variety of passengers decide to hold a Christmas party for a ten-year-old girl who was traveling alone. The hermit is an old vaudeville star, and the passenger list includes such characters as sailors on leave, a burlesque queen, a theatrical producer, an old maid and a playboy.

Den 1 Receives Attendance Flag

Cub Scout Pack 31 held its regular meeting Nov. 26 at the Presbyterian Church with Roland Black, Cubmaster, officiating. Darrell Woolsey, Clifford Sherrod, Gary Dooley and Alex deSchweinitz of Den 4 gave a skit under the direction of Mrs. Marion Williams.

Stanley Prichard and George Cox received a bear badge. Their mothers, Mrs. Arnald Prichard and Mrs. Wesley Cox, received a bear badge in miniature pin form. Stanley also received a gold and two silver arrow points; George received a gold and a silver arrow point to be worn under the bear badge.

A gold and two silver arrow points to be worn under the wolf badge were given to Mike Mathis and John Brantley. Garry Cook and Kenneth Crossland received a gold and a silver arrow point to be worn under the wolf badge.

One year pins were given to Randy Warren, Richard Merchant, Tommy Thompson, Craig Bellah, Barry Lindsey, Johnny Mike Pettitt, Jimmie Reese, Mike Mathis, John Brantley, Garry Cook and Kenneth Crossland. Second year pins were given to George Cox and Stanley Prichard.

An honor flag was given to the den with the best attendance record at the meeting. Den 1 with 13 members and 16 visitors received the flag to hold until the next meeting.

The Christmas party will be held Dec. 21 at 7:30 at the Presbyterian Church. All Scouts are to bring a 50 cent gift and a can of vegetables. The food will then be taken to the Children's Home in Amarillo at Christmas.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The supervisors of the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District in a regular meeting Tuesday night approved Farmer District Cooperative Agreements with Frank Grabber, Jack Frost, Forrest Gruner and Donald Schaeffer.

The board completed work on their annual report and annual plan of operations.

The supervisors, in conjunction with the Randall County Junior Livestock Association, will sponsor a grass judging contest. A list of grasses to be used in the contest will be available in the county agents office. Awards will be given the three highest contestants. The grasses will be on display throughout the livestock show.

We are still looking for a rain, but until we receive it we are still faced with the problem of soil blowing. Chiseling of cropland has held the soil in place so far this year. Chiseling will continue to prevent soil blowing if enough clods are turned up during the chiseling operation.

Every year, at the present rate, some 500,000 acres of land are being ruined by wind and water erosion brought on by improper land use practices. And tens of millions of additional acres are being damaged in some degree every year.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot adequately express our gratitude to those who expressed their sympathy and helpfulness to us so beautifully at the time of our recent sorrow. May God bless you all.

ATTENTION DAIRYMEN

ONLY 1 EXTRA POUND OF MILK PER DAY

will pay for changing your herd from poor quality feed to top-line Purina Dairy Chows. And only 300 lbs. of extra milk per lactation will pay for Purina, compared with low-cost rations.

Thousands of dairymen have upped production per cow as much as 2,000 lbs. of milk in one lactation after changing to the Purina Dairy Program. That leaves an extra 1700 lbs of milk per cow to sell. We find it's actually cheaper in the long run to feed a top-line ration like Purina.

Cranberries, Oranges, Spices and Cider Make Refreshing Beverages

Parties, parties, parties. From now until Christmas, which isn't long, there will be a lot of entertaining whether just a casual evening chat with the neighbors or a special social.

Those special events usually call for something extra fancy in the food line. To accompany seasonal foods, the hostess will probably want some refreshing and delightfully good beverage to please her guests.

Cranberries, oranges, spices and cider are ingredients that match the Yuletide spirit in flavor and sparkle.

Beat whites until they form soft peaks; add remaining sugar and beat until smooth and shiny. Fold yolks into whites; pour in cream and juice. Mix well. Sprinkle with cloves, if desired.

Orange Eggnog

6 eggs
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cloves
2 quarts chilled orange juice
½ cup lemon juice
1 quart vanilla ice cream

Beat eggs until light. Add sugar, cinnamon, ginger and cloves. Stir in orange juice and lemon juice. Cut ice cream into cubes and place in chilled punch bowl. Pour orange juice mixture over this. Add ginger ale last. Sprinkle with nutmeg.

Hot Buttered Cranberry Punch

¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup water
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice
¾ teaspoon cloves
2 1-pound cans jelled cranberry sauce
3 cups water
1 quart pineapple juice
Cinnamon sticks
Butter or margarine

Bring to a boil sugar, water, salt and spices. Crush cranberry sauce with a fork. Add water and beat with rotary beater until smooth. Add cranberry liquid and pineapple juice to hot spiced syrup and simmer about 5 minutes. Keep steaming hot over hot water. To serve, ladle punch into mugs. Add dots of butter or margarine. Serve with cinnamon stick stirrers. Makes 2½ quarts.

Cranberry Punch

Simmer one quart cranberries in 1½ quarts water until all skins pop. Strain. Add juice of 12 lemons. Make sugar syrup of two cups of sugar and 2 cups water. Add enough water to make about 1 gallon of punch.

Hot Mulled Cider

1 gallon cider
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon ground allspice
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon whole cloves
8 inch stick cinnamon

Tie allspice, cloves and ground cinnamon in a small cloth about 6 inches square. Add sugar, bag of spices and stick cinnamon to cider. Heat about 20 minutes under the boiling point or until flavor suits taste. Longer cooking develops a more spicy flavor. Do not boil. Serve hot in teacups or punch bowl.

Apple, grape, raspberry, loganberry and other fruit juices may be used in the same way as cider. Change the amount of sugar to taste, and dilute the fruit juice with hot water to suit the taste. A small amount of lemon juice may be added.

Spiced Tea

5 tablespoons tea
16 cups (1 gal.) water
1 tablespoon whole allspice
1 tablespoon whole cloves
4 small pieces stick cinnamon
4 orange rinds
3 lemon rinds
2 cups orange juice
1 cup lemon juice
1 to 1½ cups sugar

Simmer spices, orange and lemon rind with water for 20 minutes. Remove from heat. Add tea; cover and let steep 1 to 3 minutes. Strain out tea leaves, rind and spices. Add fruit juice and sugar. Serve hot or cold.

Wassail Cup

2 cups sugar
2 cups water
6 cloves
1 stick cinnamon
½ teaspoon allspice berries
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 tablespoon chopped, candied ginger
1½ cups orange juice
¾ cup lemon juice
2 cups apple cider

Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes. Add cloves, cinnamon, allspice berries, lemon rind, orange rind and ginger. Cover and let stand for several hours. Add orange juice, lemon juice and apple cider. Bring to a simmer and serve hot.

Hot Spiced Tomato Juice

4 cups tomato juice
2 tablespoons catsup
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 lemon, juice and grated rind
½ teaspoon tabasco sauce
1 tablespoon Worchestershire sauce

Combine all ingredients and bring just to the boiling point over medium heat. Serve at once. Serves 6 to 8.

Note: This may be served in small coffee cups in the living room before a meal.

The '57 Pontiac is America's Number (1) Road Car!

Months ago, Pontiac set its '57 sights on producing an engineering classic—the greatest road car in automotive history! How well did they succeed? One answer is pictured here, the all-new '57 Pontiac itself, a car so advanced in concept that other new cars merely emphasize its outstanding design, its brilliant array of first-time features! The other answer is the public's response to this road-ruling beauty. From every quarter of the nation has come wave after wave of confirming praise! Praise for Pontiac's styling—its crisp, colorful lines and flowing contours that accent beauty built in, not hung on! Praise for new Level-Line Ride, the advanced suspension system that cradles you in cloud-soft comfort. Praise for Pontiac's ease of handling! Praise for the brisk and eager response of its all-new Strato-Streak V-8 engine! And underlying this tremendous voice of approval is the confidence felt in a car which has undergone the greatest road test in history . . . Pontiac's grueling 100,000-Mile Marathon Run! Yes, this year it's Pontiac all the way! Come in and see it! Come take the wheel of America's No. 1 Road Car!

of their own. The boy thought it over and said, "Oh, I'm not afraid of you."

"Parents shouldn't teach their children to be afraid of policemen, but they do . . . they say, 'if you don't be good, the policeman is going to get you' . . . children should be made to realize that when they get in a tight spot they can always call on a policeman to help them," she said.

Mrs. Caldwell's anxious moments come when children on bikes go up the highway and ride across by themselves. "I get tied up in knots watching."

The road isn't the only danger spot she watches. One day she saw one of "her" youngsters inspecting a bird nest in a tree down the road. She ran down and called "Why, don't you know you're not supposed to be in that tree?" "I ain't!" he replied. "No, you'll fall out and break your neck."

It's a good thing Mrs. Caldwell has a great enthusiasm for her work, for it's no job for daytime loafing or partying. She arrives at 8 a. m. and stays until the last bell rings at the school at 8:45. From 9 to 11:25 she does her housework. Then back to the school from 11:25 until 12:45.

Lunch comes about 1 p. m. Lunch is really breakfast since that is when her husband, Deputy Sheriff Caldwell, eats his breakfast.

Mrs. Caldwell says she just has time to wash the dishes before leaving at 2:15 to return to her post where she stays until about 3:30 or until all the children have left. Then she goes home, changes clothes and goes to work at M. E. Moses where she takes inventory until 7 p. m. "Supper is sandwiches now days," she said.

She drives 10 miles a day to and from work and setting out traffic caution signs. At first she used a patrol car to enable her to chase down speedsters, but this took her away from her post so she decided to use her own car.

As a mother of two children, one son who is married, and a girl, 16, Mrs. Caldwell feels it is easier to understand children's problems and actions and to sympathize with them. "I hate to see little girls walking to school with bare legs blue from the cold," she shuddered. Sometimes she drives down and picks them up.

She said she stayed home all the time with her children while they were growing up, and she took them to school when they were small. After seeing one of her relative's young boys killed returning from school one day, she was determined to protect her children from that danger.

But she doesn't believe in overprotecting the child from danger. Her husband, being a policeman, guns were always around the house. She said they explained to the children what the guns were and that they could kill. "We never had any trouble," she said. She doesn't believe in removing the danger with no explanation. "They are going to look into it anyway."

Mrs. Caldwell was working at Taylor & Sons last summer when she heard of the patrol job left open by the resignation of Mrs. George Roden, first Canyon patrolwoman. She applied despite advice against the hours and weather. And she wanted it despite such disadvantages as buying the $49 jacket to her suit. Other parts to her suits are furnished.

About this time school was nearly out last Wednesday. Patrolwoman Caldwell looked over to the school and said, "I have one boy that is absolutely the last button on Job's shirt. When he comes out that's the last of them . . . here he comes now."

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Congress Under Pressure

On the 3rd of January, 1956, the 85th Session of the Congress of the United States of America will convene. Political writers and experts in the East are predicting that, immediately after the Congress convenes, the pressure will be on for the early passage of a legislative program that can be used as a base platform for the much advertised new Republicanism.

It seems to be the opinion of the political experts that a speedy and all-out attack will be necessary to force the program through; that if the program is not passed in the first two years of the President's term, much of it will be doomed.

The interesting and somewhat amusing feature is the nature of the program predicted by these political fortunetellers. It could easily be mistaken for the Roosevelt-Truman programs that were such hot issues for so many years.

For instance, the political analysts say that the legislative "musts" program will include such items as 1) Civil Rights legislation. 2) A federal health insurance program. 3) Amendment of the Taft-Hartley Act. 4) Federal aid to education. 5) Expansion of Fair Labor Standards Act to include many more workers under minimum wage and minimum hour provisions. 6) Expansion of the social security system. 7) Foreign Aid. Expansion of economic aid to under-developed countries. 8) Channeling of government contracts to thickly populated areas to avoid unemployment. (This means the additional expense to the taxpayer, because the determining factor is not the cost of the goods to be purchased, but the economic situation in a particular area. This, of course, reduces the chance for industrial expansion of those sections of the country not presently industrialized). 9) Liberalization of immigration laws. (There has long been a major effort to shift unused quotas from such countries as England, Sweden, etc., to other countries that have many people wanting to migrate to this country). 10) Increased military spending.11) Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, and voting rights for the District of Columbia. 12) Increased aid for hospital construction.

The failure of Roosevelt and Truman to obtain passage of much of this legislation was due to strong opposition from those who were violently opposed to the centralization of our government and a concentration of power in the hands of a few individuals in Washington.

If the predictions of these political prognosticators are even partially correct, it would appear that the sessions of the 85th Congress will be most interesting.

Two items that are noticeable because of their absence in the list of political predictions, are small business legislation and legislation concerning the farmer and rancher. When these two items are mentioned, they usually appear at the bottom of the list and seem to be somewhat of a second thought.

The disregard of these two items by many of the writers causes me concern for two reasons. In the first place, these two segments of our economy are in deep trouble and must have some assistance. In the second place, Eisenhower has mentioned both of these items several times as being of concern to him.

The failure of the writers to treat these two matters as serious makes me wonder if they know something that the rest of the country has not been told.

America On Wheels

The hearings that have been held by the Committee on Traffic Safety of which I am a member, have certainly proven that America is truly a "nation on wheels." Everyone in this country seems to be going some place or coming back.

I guess all Americans have a certain amount of gypsy blood. Several years after World War I, I had occasion to visit with a German Army officer who had come to this country to live.

He defined an American as "a person who, regardless of where he was, wanted to go some other place, and when he arrived there wished that he had stayed where he was in the beginning."

In other words, he felt that Americans wanted to go some place just for the sake of going. This is certainly true in my household. Mrs. Rogers and I wanted to go to a football game the other day and our two youngest insisted that they go, too, although they had no idea where we were going.

To save controversy, we took them. When the game was about one-fourth through, the little girl got my attention and asked, "Is this baseball or football can I have another cup of hot chocolate?"

Fashion . . . a man's world, too

FUEL FOR A GROWING EMPIRE

Texas' new leaders, who take over state government in January, face the holiday season with visions of tax dollars dancing through their heads.

Gov.-Elect Price Daniel of Liberty already has set up unofficial headquarters in Austin. So has Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, unopposed candidate for Speaker of the House.

They will be in almost continuous conference with incoming legislators the next few weeks, hoping to smooth the way for a fast start in January.

Their problem parallels the December dilemma of most parents — how to buy everything Santa promised without upsetting the budget. Campaign promises, constitutional amendments voted by the people and increased money requests from state departments threaten to do just that.

Earlier Gov. Allan Shivers had predicted a $50,000,000 surplus for the next biennium with no need for new taxes. State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert said he could foresee only a $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 surplus.

But outgoing House Speaker Jim Lindsey took a flat "there ain't no Santa Claus" attitude. Texas growing population means spiraling expenditures, said Lindsey.

Amendments giving increased teacher retirement and aid to the disabled will add some $12,000,000 to the state budget, he noted. Lindsey pegged estimated revenue for the next two years at $274,000,000, appropriation requests at $336,000,000. Result: some 25 per cent would have to be financed with new taxes.

Auto Insurance

Texans may enjoy lower automobile insurance rates and lower costs in other lines of casualty insurance if the Texas 1957 Legislature adopts a proposed flexible rate system. The state currently has a single rate plan — all companies charge the same on casualty insurance.

A Texas Casualty and Surety Legislative Study Committee, named by 40 Texas insurance companies, has recommended that the single rate plan be abolished and a flexible plan, such as used in other states, be adopted.

Says Bob Hilton, study committee chairman: "Many companies are willing and able to charge lower rates and would be permitted to do so under a flexible rating plan which throws insurance charges open to competition and allows a company to set its rates at the lowest level consistent with sound operations."

Inauguration Work Begun

James P. Nash heads the group of Austinites already at work on 1957 inauguration festivities.

Other leaders are E. R. L. Wroe Jr., vice chairman; E. C. Bartholomew, secretary; Robert M. Kinnan, treasurer; Ed Clark, acting treasurer.

With $1,241 left over from last inauguration, the committee needs to raise some $14,000 more if Austin is to carry out in style its traditional role of "host to the state!" Invitations by the thousands, a parade, receptions and several balls are part of the bi-annual splurge.

Courts Building Contracts Let

Contracts totaling $2,097,651 have been awarded for construction of a new state Courts Building.

This figure includes everything but the architects' fees and interior finishing, according to the State Building Commission. These are expected to run the total cost up to $2,895,943.

Insurance Chairman Resigns

J. Byron Saunders, chairman of the State Board of Insurance Commissioners, has resigned effective Jan. 1.

Saunders is to become vice president and general counsel for Republic National Life Insurance Co. in Dallas. He has been commission chairman since the resignation of Garland Smith last January.

Saunders instituted an industry-wide solvency check of insurance companies to "weed out the bad apples." He was praised by Gov. Allan Shivers for "stepping in when the board was under fire" and for securing stronger laws and supervision.

Lowry Conviction Reversed

Court of Criminal Appeals has reversed the conviction of Leslie Lowry for perjury in a statement to the Insurance Commission.

Lowry, former Beaumont mayor, was given a seven-year sentence by an Austin district court. He was accused of making a false affidavit about the financial condition of the now-defunct Texas Fire Insurance Company. But a defense witness, a former notary, testified he did not administer an oath to Lowry when the affidavit was signed.

Reversal of the Lowry conviction threw a cloud over perjury indictments pending against three other officials of the same company. Travis County's District Attorney Les Procter said he will file a motion for re-hearing.

Women Jurors Applauded

Use of women jurors may have a wholesome effect on our court procedures, says a Supreme Court Justice.

Judge W. St. John Garwood thinks presence of women "will probably result in more cleanliness, order, restraint and dignity."

Judge Garwood also noted "increasing criticism" of jury trials in civil cases. Mounting volume and complexity of civil litigation makes the system more and more cumbersome, he said. This, he suggested, plus "declining popular fear of judges as arbitrary or corruptible" may pave the way for reform.

Health Outlook Brighter

An infant's chance of survival has increased many fold in Texas in the past two decades.

Infant death rates have dropped from 71 to 30 per thousand since 1936, according to the State Department of Health. In the same period maternal deaths and stillbirths have plummeted from 6.9 to 0.5 per thousand so far this year.

Even greater improvements are predicted by the department as higher health standards become commonplace.

Short Snorts

Dry northers are offsetting the effects of early fall rains in most of Texas, says the Texas Agricultural Service. Low temperatures and heavy frosts were also cited as damaging winter crops.

Texas will have nearly three million jobholders during December, predicts the Texas Employment Commission. Extra holiday help in stores and post offices already has brought the seasonal upswing to 2,930,000, a new record.

Texas will be entitled to two more congressmen after the 1960 census, according to unofficial population estimates. This would give the state 24 representatives.

Texas School for the Deaf, delayed in its fall opening by a $2,500,000 construction program, was scheduled to begin classes Monday. A six-day week and one-day Christmas holiday faces the 461 students in payment for their extra "vacation."

Texas Supreme Court has set for Jan. 2 hearing on the state's case against Upshur Rural Electric Cooperative. Decision is expected to define cooperatives' rights to sell power in an area annexed by a city.

THOMPSON HARDWARE

At the beauty parlor the other day we got to talking about packages. There was one at home, I said, which I hadn't opened.

"An unopened package! How can you stand it?" the hairdresser exclaimed. Her husband, she said, was in Germany for two years and sent gifts often. "When Mother would call me about one," she said excitedly, "I couldn't even wait till after work. I'd phone a customer to come early, then run home between shampoos to open it."

But that was different, I said. Each of her packages was a contact with her absent husband. They were more than presents. Then she talked of the things he had sent — beautiful china, jewelry, Dresden figurines . . . "And let me show you something I've kept all this time." . . . She opened a door in her dressing table to search.

I'm not sure what I expected, certainly not what she soon placed in my lap: a wooden box top about a foot-and-a-half square, neatly lettered with her address, a serial number and Mannheim, Germany, return. It still bore all the parcel post instructions that came with it in 1952.

"I guess that's silly," she said, suddenly embarrassed. "I brought it down to show the girls the lettering, and I just never have thrown it away."

Silly? Not at all. Up till now, she had seemed a quiet, efficient mind-and-body, attached to highly skilled hands. Now she was a human being, with real feelings and a fine set of values. The Dresden figurines were at home gathering dust. She kept the box top where she spent most of her waking hours. It symbolized for her the man she had married — patient, orderly, clean-cut, generous and thoughtful. Why shouldn't she cherish a thing that refreshed such tender memories?

MRS. LESTER PACKER

Impressive Home Ceremony Unites Mable Graham and Lester Packer

Mable Ann Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Graham and Lt. Lester Packer of Washington, D. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Packer of New York City, exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the ranch home of the bride's parents southwest of Canyon. The Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, read the services before a brown velvet draped pedestal which was accented by tiny clusters of variegated ivy foliage.

A basket of gold Fuji and bronze mums accented with gold pompoms centered the pedestal and on each side were seven bracht and spiral candelabra with gold twisted candles entwined with bronze and gold mums.

Mrs. Lee Foster, pianist, played "Andante Cantabile" by Tschaikowski, "Sous La Feuillee" by Thom, "Choral Preludes" by Bach and "The Processional" and "Prelude" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner. Mrs. Bill Osborne of Houston, sister of the bride, sang "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" by Wagner and was accompanied by Mrs. Foster.

Billie Graham of Fort Worth, sister of the bride, was the candlelighter. She wore a brown lace over ivory satin waltz length dress and carried a nosegay centered with a gold spiral candle entwined with tiny garlands of gold mums.

Mrs. Nolon Henson Jr. served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a waltz length gown of toast colored lace and tulle laid layer over layer the entire skirt length of the dress. Her bouquet was of brown Fuji mums with English ivy in a crescent arrangement. She wore a semi-circular arrangement of English ivy in her hair.

Frank Kimbrough served as best man. Ushers were Nolon Henson Jr., Bill Osborne of Houston and Bill Howerton of Abilene.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, fastened with self covered buttons low in the back and accented with a high Victorian collar. The dress yoke was outlined in seed pearls and the long fitted sleeves came to petal points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of scolloped white maline fell from a satin and rosepoint lace covered pill box hat coming to a point at the center back. Her bridal bouquet was of yellow roses accented with tiny lily of the valley, English ivy, and brown velvet leaves. For something old she wore a fifty year old embroidered petticoat that belonged to her maternal grandmother for whom she was named. For something new, the bride wore a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Other traditions were something borrowed, a handkerchief from her mother, something blue, a garter from Mrs. Osborne, and a sixpence from Billie.

Mrs. Graham, mother of the bride, wore a burnt toast colored silk shantung sheath dress. Her corsage was of yellow and gold roses with brown accents.

Following the ceremony, the bridal pair was honored with a reception. Laid with an ecru satin full-skirted cloth which was caught at intervals with tiny garlands of smilax, the bride's table was centered with a tall silver candelabra entwined with smilax garlands with the bridal bouquet at the base. The wedding cake, decorated with yellow decorator roses, was topped with an exact replica in miniature of the bridal bouquet. Mrs. Osborne served the wedding cake and Billie Graham presided at the coffee service. Assisting in the house party were Mrs. Tom Gooch, Mrs. Roy Harrington, Mrs. A. B. Holt, Mrs. John Jennings, Mrs. Joe Gibson and Mrs. Virgil Henson.

For a wedding trip to Santa Fe, Denver, Colo., and Cheyenne, Wyo., the bride traveled in a red-wine colored soft wool sheath dress with matching accessories. After Dec. 18 the couple will be at home at 1401 Whittier St., N. W. in Washington, D. C.

Lt. Packer was graduated from DeWitt Clinton High School, New York, and received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Brooklyn College and his Ph.D. degree from Yale University.
